There was no one to challenge Shivaji's might. People wanted him to become King. They asked one another why Shivaji shouldn't become their king. He consulted his commanders and trusted followers. He decided to declare himself a ruler. He invited Gaga Bhatta, the well known pandit of Kashi to perform the religious rites. Saturday June 6, 1674 was fixed as the auspicious day for the coronation ceremony.

The ceremony took place on Raigadh. The people waited for it very eagerly. Twenty one guns boomed to salute him. The royal umbrella was held on Shivaji's head and the vedic hymn were chanted. Shivaji rose to this great position through his own efforts.
