

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am grateful to Dr.V.V.Badve for his valuable guidance and continuous encouragement during the protracted period of my intermittent work on this dissertation.

My thanks are due to all the members of the English Department, particularly, to Professors C.J.Jahagirdar and P.B.Patil and Dr.(Smt.) Laxmi Muktali for their active help and encouragement.

I thank our young family friend, Ashish Jachak, for getting me all the books that I needed from the university library of Georgia State University, Atlanta.

It is needless to mention the parental concern and solicitude which is behind my work on this dissertation: My father, Dr. S,K,Desai, read the first draft and made valuable suggestions for improvement, and my mother, Smt. Sumitra Desai, provided time for me to complete my work by looking after my family here in Atlanta,U.S.A.

My thanks are due to my husband, Sandesh Jagdev, for his affectionate prodding and for getting the dissertation computer-printed.

CONTENTS

Chapters	Page
I Introduction . . . . .	1
II The Aunt's Story : Fragmentation of Maturity . . . . .	9
III The Tree of Man and Voss : Marriage - Physical and Symbolic . . . . .	31
IV The Eye of the Storm : Ambivalence of Redemption . . . . .	57
V A Fringe of Leaves : Encounter with Darkness . . . . .	67
VI Conclusion . . . . .	84
Notes . . . . .	101
Bibliography . . . . .	108