

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Jayawant B. Ambekar (Yadav) who is the guide for my Dissertation. At every stage of my work he has provided guidance and has made valuable suggestions. His critical discussions and directions were all of the more indispensable for my study in the field of Sociology of Arts.

My respectful thanks are due to Dr. S.N.Pawar, Professor and Head of the Sociology Department for his time to time encouragement. I am thankful to Dr. S.R.Suryawanshi for his valuable discussions with me on the topic of Art and Home Decoration and to Dr. A.B.Hiramani for his useful discussion.

My sincere thanks go to Shri Jaysingrao Dalvi, Artist, Sculptor and art critic who made lively discussions and gave valuable help for taking the interviews of the different members of the families and to Shri Arvind Mistry, Principal of "Kala Niketan" who provided some references for the present study.

A special word of thanks are due to Rayat Shikshan Sanstha who gave me the opportunity to attend and complete my M. Phil.

My thanks are due to Shri Annasaheb Garud, the Principal of Rajarshi Chatrapati Shahu College, Kolhapur for giving me all facilities to complete the course of study and Shri Sham Yedekar, the Head of the Sociology Department, Rajarshi Chatrapati Shahu College, Kolhapur for his able guidance.

I am also thankful to Librarian Shri B.D. Patil, Shri C.M. Patil, my colleague Mrs. Snehal Shikhare, my younger sister Mrs. Vijaya Suryawanshi, Prof. Sarjerao Salunkhe of Ratnagiri for their valuable help.

My thanks go to hundred families whom I visited and who gave me a good response for data collection.

Last but not the least my members of the family, my hearty thanks go to my husband Shri Sajjanrao Mane, who is an Artist and Interior Designer for his help in data collection and discussion on different topics and to my children, who kept the home as it was before quiet, tidy and lovable during my study period.

Mrs. S. S. Mane.
