The researcher is greatly thankful to the almighty Father and those benevolent spirits of the host land and that of his for having granted him this little piece of work in pursuance of knowledge, for a life that worth living.

The researcher is really happy and thankful to his lovely and sweet parents, especially his most one, Noble Chief Peter A.I. Omelukor. Whom without him the researcher wouldn't have come into social contact with these groups, talk of writing about their life. Furthermore, the researcher uses this great opportunity in welcoming his younger brothers Ernest, Endurance, Richie and Prince (M) who were born during the researcher's long absence in the family, more especially to Prince Pei Omelukor (M) born during the process of this work.

The researcher will be making a mistake, a mistake which is beyond pardonable should those professors who have in one way or the other Contributed immensely in this work are not remembered. Among them are Prof. S.N. Purohit Head of Sociology Department and Dean of Social Sciences Shivaji University, Kolhapur who infact has morally and academicaly encouraged the researcher in undertaking this work in Sociology. His parental care and advice, the researcher shall always live to remember them. Another Professor that ^{is} worth remembering by the researcher is his academic Guide Dr. Jayawant b. Ambekar-Yadav (Reader) who greatly shows academic interest in the researcher's idea as against what Napoleon could not do. The researcher's knowledge and approach to this study through scientific thinking as against literal class-room work is the very handiwork of his guide. Apart from this work, he has as well contributed socially by bringing the researcher into his fold like his junior brothers rather than that of Teacher and student relationship. He added both together in making this work a success for the researcher. The researcher as well cannot forget his guide's family, wife and childrens Rashmi, Amurita and Rakesh especially Rakesh whom the researcher attended his birthday party organized in the University's Guest house by the parents. In this regard, the researcher own him more than all he can say. Finally, the researcher once again, say to his guide, thank you for haven tolerated him, the researcher throughout the study without minding those human limitations.

The researcher as well expresses his profound thanks to the United Nations Organization(U.N.O.) for establishing and promoting foreign students among the member states through UNESCO for an ideal social world based upon mass communication. Moreso, to the Government of India and the people of Kolhapur in particular whose social life has greatly influenced the researcher. Many thanks also go to the rest of the Nigerian students in Kolhapur, especially Taj and Jimoh Yusurf ali^s (Fraud) for their friendly assistance and love. As well as to Stephen Nwaja alias (General) for his regular jokes too. Person like my anticipated, K.L.Indumathi cannot be forgotten for her prayer and contribution towards the success of this work too.

The researcher⁹ heartly thanks go to his respondents who did show great interest and cooperation throughout the study, else the work wouldn't have being a success. Moreso, to Prof. R.S.Mané The Dean of Students Welfare Shivaji University, Kolhapur for his interest and contribution towards this work as well as to Mr. M.S.Karekar a Retired Administrative Staff of ^{Shivaji} University.

The last and not the least are the teaching staff and non teaching staff members of the Sociology Department Shivaji University, Kolhapur. As well as the rest of Administrative Staffs in Post Graduate Section of Shivaji University, Kolhapur. The local friends who has always shown that feeling of friendship with the researcher apart from the gap in communication. My local family friend Mr. Kiran Suryavanshi and family shall ever remain in the mind of the researcher.

Finally, more thanks go to the Typist MR.CHANDRAKANT SHANKAR MORE. and Family members for their tolerance towards the script of this research work.
