

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I have great pleasure to have been associated with and worked under the able and inspiring guidance of Dr. Rajendra B. Patil, Reader, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, under whose keen supervision this dissertation has been prepared by me. I have been receiving his valuable suggestions and constant encouragement without which it would not have been possible for me to accomplish my purpose. I take this opportunity of acknowledging my sincere feelings of gratitude and respect for his valuable help throughout the present work.

I must put on record my sincere feelings of gratitude and respect towards Dr. S. N. Pawar, Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, for his constant encouragement, academic discussions and sparing his research repository.

My sincere thanks are also due to Dr. J. B. Ambekar and respected S. M. Dahiwale, Lecturers in the Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, for their academic discussions and constant help while preparing the dissertation.

I am extremely grateful to the University Grants Commission, New Delhi for awarding me a Teacher

Fellowship for one year which enabled me to complete this work. I would like to put my thanks to Vice-Chancellor and Registrar of Shivaji University, Kolhapur for giving me admission in the University Department.

My sincere thanks are also due to Chairman, Secretary and Other authorities of the Ratnagiri Education Society, Ratnagiri and respected V.M.Ranade, Principal, R.P.Gogate College of Arts and Science and R.V.Jogalekar College of Commerce and Junior College, Ratnagiri, for granting me a study leave of one year and giving an ample opportunity for higher studies.
