

A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T

We are passing through an era of fast conceptual changes. Tomorrow we should not be surprised to see the present values of life outdated, when we have witnessed such a staggering change. Although such a change is inevitable we must preserve certain things, for, those can never wear out. My esteemed research guide Dr. T. S. Shaikh taught me never to compromise on quality. In the precious years of association with him, I found in him a competent, able research guide, a warm person and an ever co-operative man. I have deep appreciation for the valuable guidance rendered by him in the last few years.

Research, in a way, is never an independent work. Several personalities and institutions extend their assistance in the completion of the task. It is possible to list all of them here but "mercy is twice blessed", so I would list only a few.

Dr. P. S. Rao (Principal, Shahu Institute, Kolhapur), Prof. N.S. Patwardhan; F.C.A., Mr. D. J. Tamboli; Prob. Officer. Bank of India, and Mr. S. D. Agashe - have always showered special affection on me. Their constant encouragement provided me lasting energy to complete this work at last. Indeed, I have no words to thank them.

I also thank Principal, J. S. M. College, Alibag (Raigad), and their library staff; K. M. C. College, Khopoli (Raigad), and their library staff for giving access to their library.

Without the co-operation of Mr. M. S. Apte, Chairman and Chief Executive of the Sangli Bank; Principal and Instructor of the Staff Training College of the Sangli Bank, and employees of the Sangli Bank, it would not have been possible to carry out research on this topic. My heart is full of gratitude for all these co-operators.

My colleague Mr. V. V. Kumbhojkar needs a special word of thanks for assisting me in strenuous task of proof reading.

I am particularly grateful to the faculty members of the Pen Education Society, Pen (Raigad) for taking continuous interest in my work and facilitating my research.

Thanks are also due to Shri. P. J. Joshi who willingly undertook typing of this dissertation, and completed it with accuracy and neatness.

The members of my family, especially my brother has played a vital role in the completion of this work by keeping me at a safe distance from financial worries and affairs. I am proud to acknowledge their contribution in this mission. I am grateful to all those authors whose books, articles, reports, theses, etc., have provided me useful material to shape the present research assignment.

At the end, I would like to reciprocate with all my sincerity, the love, affection and encouragement which I received from my friend Mr. Vasant Kelkar, Ratnagiri.
