

- :: ACKNOWLEDGEMENT ::-

In writing this dissertation I had to take guidance and assistance from a number of faculty members and my friends.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. (Mrs.) S. B. Pandit, my research guide, for sympathetic and kind guidance and encouragement through-out the completion of this work. Without her involvement, the present dissertation could not have been completed.

I am grateful to Dr. V. B. Ghuge, Professor and Head of the Department of Economics, who took keen interest in my research topic and gave critical remarks and suggestions on the preliminary draft of the dissertation, which have certainly added to the quality of the work.

I am indebted to other staff members of the Department for their cooperation and encouragement in my work. I must particularly mention the encouragement which I received from Dr. J. R. Patil, Reader, Department of Economics without whose support, I could not have completed this work. My gratitude to Shri. T. B. Patil, my father-in-law is beyond words. His parental encouragement is the basic inspiration of this work.

I am also grateful to Prof. S. S. Sahasrabudhe who gave me considerable guidance in clarifying certain issues involved in the work of E.M. Hoover. Shri. Ashok Sabale (Research Assistant) and Shri. M.J. Fatil, (Typist of the Department of Economics) have been helpful in the completion of this work. I am thankful to them. I am thankful to the personnel of Shivaji University Library, for the prompt and courteous assistance in collecting the relevant literature.

I thank Mrs. Meenaxi More for the flawless, neat and timely typing of the present dissertation.
