

C O N T E N T S

		Page No.
1. Title page.
2. Certificate.
3. Acknowledgement.
4. Table of Contents.
5. List of Tables.
6. List of Figures.
CHAPTER - I	: INTRODUCTION	1-2
a) Statement of the Problem.
b) Objectives of the study
CHAPTER - II	REVIEW OF THE RELATED LITERATURE	3-18
CHAPTER - III	SOCIO-ECONOMIC AND PHYSICAL PROFILE OF THE HATKANANGALE TALUKA	19-25
Topography-Soil types-Main crops- Forests-Rain fall-Population-Density of population-Social composition- Occupational pattern-Literacy- Background of Industrial development, Co-operation.
CHAPTER - IV	RESEARCH METHODOLOGY	26-29
Procedures used-Sources of data- Methods of gathering data-Description of data gathering instruments.

CHAPTER - V

SCHEDULED CASTES HOUSEHOLDS IN HATKANANGALE TALUKA STRUCTURE AND CHARACTERISTICS.

30-41

Caste-Religionwise classification of the sampled households-Sexwise classification of the sampled population of the sampled population Distribution of sampled population according to age groups- Distribution of sampled Population according to Marital status.- Literacy and illiteracy among SC/ST population- Classification of population into working & non working- distribution of household according to family size.

CHAPTER - VII

ECONOMIC FINDINGS OF THE SYRVEY

42-65

Occupational distribution of the sampled population-Size of the landholdings of sampled households- Distribution of households according to animal wealth owned- Housing conditions of the sampled population- distribution of respondents according to household utensils- Annual income of sampled household from non co-operative activities- Annual income of the sample households from the co-operative source-Annual income of the sample households from co-operative and non co-operativesources. Annual expenditure of the households- Indebtedness of sampled households-Annual saving perhouseholds.

CHAPTER - VII	VARIOUS TYPES OF CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES - SOME CASE STUDIES.	65-94
---------------	---	-------

Number of co-operative societies formed by SC/ST people in Hatkanangale Taluka-Financial resources structure of sample co-operative societies- some case studies of co-operative societies.

CHAPTER VIII	SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION & SUGGESTIONS.	94-100
	QUESTIONNAIRE.
	BIBLIOGRAPHY

