

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The present work is the result of my research for the award of M. Phil. Degree by the Shivaji University, Kolhapur (Maharashtra)

In course of preparing this work I have received co-operation and encouragement from many persons and its my duty to express great appreciation and indebtedness to all of them. Among them my research guide Dr. (Mrs.) N. D. Parekar, Reader, Department of History, Shivaji University, Kolhapur deserves special mention. Thanks to her constant encouragement and help I could complete this work. Instead of expressing my gratitude to her, I would prefer to remain indebted to her for ever. But for her help and guidance the present work could not have been completed so soon. I take this opportunity to record my indebtedness to Dr. Khane and Dr. Patil for their forbearance. They often encouraged me whenever I called at their place.

Also I would like to record my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Bhosale, Head Department of History, Shivaji University, Kolhapur. Also to Dr. V. S. Kadam, the former Head, Department of History, Shivaji University, Kolhapur. For their words of encouragement. I would also like to thank all other members of the teaching staff of the Department of History for their co-operation and help in whatever way possible.

Without the help of my family members not only this dissertation but even my higher education itself would have been impossible. So I place an record my indebtedness to my revered father the late Waman Salve, my mother and my elder brother Sahebrao. I am thankful to my other family members too.

I am thankful to Shri S. S. Pasare of Prajakta Typing and Xerox Centre, Pachgaon, Kolhapur who gave me a lot of help in doing this work in time.

I am personally responsible for the opinion expressed and the errors, if any, in this dissertation.

Kolhapur

(P. W. Salve)
