

List of Tables

Table No.	Title Of The Table	Page No.
5.1	Gender wise classification of respondents	42
5.2	Credit card holder wise classification of respondents	43
5.3	Educational qualification wise classification of respondents	44
5.4	Age group wise classification of respondents	45
5.5	Earning members in a family	46
5.6	Occupation wise classification of respondents	47
5.7	Classification of respondents based on type of employment	48
5.8	Income wise classification of respondents	49
5.9	Classification based on hobbies of respondents	50
5.10	Classification of respondents based on newspaper they read	51
5.11	Classification of respondents based on user status	52
5.12	Companies and number of respondents	53
5.13	Advertisements that struck an idea of buying a car	54
5.14	Appealing Ads	55
5.15	Effect of sponsorships	56
5.16	Sales promotional activities and their level of influence	57
5.17	Influence as per each promotional scheme	58
5.18	Most appealing direct marketing activity	60
5.19	Direct marketing activities and their relative influence on choice	61
5.20	Cyber marketing activities and their relative influence on choice of a car	62
5.21	Publicity and its relative influence on choice of a car	63
5.22	Personal selling activities	64

5.23	Trustworthiness of personal selling activities	65
5.24	Influence of IMC Mix in total [1- Minimum, 5- Maximum]	66
5.25	Need recognition	67
5.26	Frequency with which chosen option push towards the product	68
5.27	Pressing need to satisfy with purchase of car	69
5.28	Influence of stimuli in creating awareness and pushing towards product	70
5.29	T V Ads	71
5.30	Radio Ads	71
5.31	Newspaper Ads	72
5.32	Magazine Ads	73
5.33	Hoarding/Billboard	74
5.34	Pamphlet/Leaflet	75
5.35	Transit Ads	76
5.36	Internet Ads	77
5.37	SMS Ads	78
5.38	Small car maker under consideration	79
5.39	Number of car models consumers compared and evaluated	80
5.40	Sought information about car	82
5.41	Reliability of sources of information	84
5.42	Parameters for evaluating choice of car against competing brands	86
5.43	After deciding on the brand	88
5.44	Wait for festive season to avail discounts	89
5.45	Influence of parameters	90
5.46	Choice of a car met or exceeded your expectations based on given parameters	92
5.47	Factors motivate to make the purchase decision of car	94
5.48	Human personality and its association with brand personality	96

5.49	Influence of family members on the choice of a car	98
H1	Companies & respondents	99
H2	Respondents' opinions	99
H3	Observed frequencies	100
H4	Expected frequencies	100
H5	P-value table	101
H6	Respondents' opinions	101
H7	Observed frequencies	102
H8	Expected frequencies	102
H9	P-value table	103