
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to express my feeling of gratitude towards the organizations and individuals who were instrumental in the successful completion of this Dissertation through their valuable guidance, cooperation and suggestions.

First of all, I would like to place on record my gratitude towards Dr.A.D.Madgulkar, Reader and Head, Department of Social Work, Chh.Shahu Central Institute of Business Education & Research (CSCIBER), Kolhapur, under whose inspiring guidance, I could complete this work.

I am also highly obliged to Prof.Dr.A.D.Shinde, Director, and Dr.P.S.Rao, Principal, CSCIBER, Kolhapur, for their encouragement throughout my M.Phil. Course.

Prin.V.L.Thambare, K.H.College, Gargoti, commands my deepest respect for his several gestures of help and encouragement.

I am very much thankful to S/Shri.Vithal Banne, Bapu Metree, B.A.Shinde, A.D.Kumbhar, Arun Godase, G.A.Sompethkar, R.S.Kamble, Praxi Mahangore, S.N.Joshi and Umesh Rane, Adawadkar, Drs.V.H.Nimbalkar, J.N.Kalake, Dr.Mrs.Pushpa Waskar and Mrs.Sharada Ghatage for their kind cooperation.

I am indeed obliged to the Librarians and the staff of the Parulekar Centre Library of Mouni Vidyapeeth, Gargoti; and the CSCIEES Library, Kolhapur; for their kind help in locating the literature on the research topic. I am also grateful to the organizations involved in the Devdasi Rehabilitation work as also the Kolhapur District Office of the Department of Social Welfare of the Government of Maharashtra, for providing me the necessary documents and information regarding the Devdasi Welfare Schemes.

I am particularly obliged to Smt. Gourabai Salbade, the first liberated Devdasi of Gadhinglaj, for providing me certain insights into the Devdasi tradition; and also thank all my respondents.

Lastly, many other organizations and individuals have helped me in numerous ways and I would like to remain indebted to them.
