

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset, I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks to my guide Professor S.N. Pawar, Research Guide and Head, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, who was kind enough to assist and guide my present research work from the very selection of the topic to its completion.

Secondly, I thank our Principal Sau.Sumatibai Patil, Chhatrapati Shivaji College, Satara for giving me an opportunity to undertake my vocational M.Phil. Course, and for encouraging me from time to time to complete the work of the present dissertation successfully.

My thanks are due to Shri B.T. Wadkar, Librarian, Chhatrapati Shivaji College, Satara for extending timely help by lending me all the necessary reference work whenever necessary. I thank also Dr. Rajendra Patil from Sociology Department, Shivaji University, Kolhapur for assisting me in my tabulation work.

Further, I thank my intimate friend Mr. Subhash Bagawade for going through the manuscript of the present work. Thanks are also due to my past and present colleagues, Principal R.K. Shinde, Mr. M.A. Shaikh, Jagtap, Nangare, Anuse, Joseph, Dhane, S.P. Patil, Mane, Lembhe, Walekar, S.T. Shete and B.B. Alman who encouraged me from time to time.

I express my deep sense of gratitude towards all the respondents whom I interviewed for the collection of data of my present work.

Finally, I thank Shri Balasaheb Kawade for neatly typing the final draft of the present dissertation.
