

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the outset, I would like to express my deep felt gratitude and indebtedness to all those who have helped me in this work.

First and foremost among such luminaries is my esteemed guide Dr. J. B. Ambekar (Yadav), Professor, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur. His unceasing encouragement, optimism, humanity and commitment towards research has left a deep impression on me.

I take this opportunity to thank to all my teachers, Professor R. B. Patil, Professor S. A. Salunkhe, Professor R. N. Salve, Professor D. Shrikant, Mr. B. N. Kendre and Ms. Sujata Gokhale, for their valuable co-operation through my studies in the Department. I also extend my thanks to non – teaching staff in the department.

I have no words to express my deep sense of gratitude and appreciation to Dr. Dhanraj A. Patil for his moral support and encouragement that really helped me to face the challenges in the right spirit and to concentrate on my research work.

I greatly appreciate my seniors Shri. Chandrashekar Pawar, Shri. R.J. Katti for the mutual respect and support that has made every step of this work enjoyable.

I would like to thank Mr. Sachin Kadam for his neat and in time typing of the work.

My acknowledgment will be incomplete if I don't express my appreciation towards my mother Sou. Mangal Maruti Patil, father Shri. Maruti Tukaram Patil and all family members for the loving support and inspiration which has sustained me throughout my life. Finally, I cannot forget to mention here the tremendous co-operation given to me by the respondents. My experiences and interactions with them have been very enriching and thought provoking. It would not have been possible to complete this work without their co-operation.
