

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I have a great pleasure to have been associated with and worked under the able and inspiring guidance of Dr. Sarjerao Salunkhe, Professor, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, under whose keen supervision this dissertation has been prepared by me. I have been receiving his valuable suggestions and constant encouragement without which it would not have been possible for me to accomplish my purpose. I take this opportunity of acknowledging my sincere feelings of gratitude and respect for his guidance throughout the present work.

My sincere thanks are to Dr. Rajendra Patil, Professor, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur and Co-ordinator of UGC-SAP-DRS-I. The department made available to me the facilities for processing the data on SPSS 13.0 with free of cost.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. J.B. Ambekar(Yadav), Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, for his constant encouragement.

My sincere thanks are also to Dr. R.N. Salve, Professor, Shri D. Shrikant, Sr. Lecturer, Dr. K.B. Nayak, Lecturer, Smt. S. M. Gokhale, Lecturer and Shri B.N. Kendre, Lecturer in Department of Sociology, Shivaji University, Kolhapur for the discussions on research topic.

I must put on record my deepest gratitude towards my Father Vilasrao, Mother Sou. Housabai, Sister Sou. Puja and my beloved wife Varsharani, who inspired and gave encouragement to me to complete the present research work.

I also sincerely thank the secretary and members of the Yerala Projects Society (NGO), Sangli. The information supplied by them forms crucial material for the present dissertation.

My sincere thanks to Satish Dhanawade, for his help while collecting data at Kamalapur area.

I am also thankful to the librarian and all library staff of Dr. Balasaheb Khardekar Library, Shivaji University, Kolhapur, for making available the library services to me.
